Thanksgiving

The children discovered that each of our families is different and special. We created books about our families, read books about families, created puppet shows with family member puppets, drew our families, and began making family collages. All the children added their families to their shape houses and the kindergartners added their addresses. The kindergarten class also read the book Company's Coming and talked about different things they do to get ready for company.

Next week the children will learn about Thanksgiving. They will explore the first Thanksgiving and discover the many things that they are thankful for each day.
